log saves party from bomber

the dog," he said in a statement reported by Nigerian media.

"The dog stopped the teenage suicide bomber from detonating her strapped improvised explosive devices on the wedding crowd of people."

No guests were injured but the dog was killed by the explosion, alongside the bomber. No further details were given about the dog, which is understood to have belonged to one of the wedding party guests. Mr Isuku said the attempted bombing happened just a few hours after three other suicide bombers blew themselves up at two other locations not far from the wedding ceremony. Extremist group Boko Haram has a history of using women or children for such assaults, especially in Borno state, of which Maiduguri is the capital. The females can be used as sex slaves or human bombs, while boys are also abducted and forced to fight.—Agencies
