'Insulting judiciary'

Egypt's Morsi sentenced to three years in prison

CAIRO

An Egyptian court sentenced ousted Islamist president Mohamed Morsi to three years in prison along with 19 other defendants on Saturday for "insulting the judiciary," his lawyer said.

The other defendants include former members of parliament, activists and three journalists. Morsi had already been sentenced to a total of 45 years in prison in two other trials after the military ousted him in 2013. The defendants had all been charged with making statements deemed insulting to the judiciary.

Five other defendants, including jailed activist Alaa Abdel Fattah, were fined 30,000 pounds (about $1,680) each. Morsi was also ordered to pay two million pounds to the head of the judges' syndicate and another judge, while 22 other defendants were ordered to pay one million pounds to the head of the syndicate. participating in a conference organised by the Higher Education Commission of Pakistan (HEC) in Lahore, The Express Tribune learnt on Wednesday.

The Punjab Higher Education Department (HED), in this regard, has sent a letter to all vice chancellors of public sector universities of the province. The letter read: "It is informed that the issue of determination of role of Federal Higher Education Commission, Provincial Higher Education Commissions/provincial governments pertaining to higher education in the aftermath of 18th Amendment in the Constitution of Islamic Republic of Pakistan, is under discussion in the Council of Common Interest (CCI), wherein the Punjab government has furnished its views/comments after approval from the Punjab chief minister."

The letter further read: "Under no circumstance, any officer of a public sector university of Punjab or any official may make/furnish any statement on this issue, at any forum, or attend any official proceeding without seeking formal approval in writing attend the meeting scheduled to be held today (Thursday). According to an official of the HED, the Punjab government was not happy with the commission's (HEC's) agenda of the conference and thus called vice chancellors.

Several of the vice chancellors of public sector universities in Punjab confirmed to The Express Tribune that they had received calls from the HED, telling them to refrain from attending the conference.

"I was told to not attend the meeting as it was being held to discuss the devolution plan of the higher education sector. The Punjab government's stance on this is that it will be discussed by the Punjab government with the federal government and this meeting has no relevance on the subject," said one of the vice chancellors, who asked not to be named.

Commenting on the development, HEC Media Director Aayesha Ikram said the meeting would go ahead. She said the HEC had invited participants (vice chancellors) from universities from all over Pakistan and would hold the meeting as per schedule.

"The HEC has invited the participants from universities across Pakistan and will hold the meeting as per schedule

HEC Media Director Aayesha Ikram

"We expected that more participants would attend (from Punjab), however, after today's development, we are not sure how many will be able to take part in the conference," she added. She said the meeting was to discuss matters of quality of education, quality of different programmes being offered at varsities, including MS and PhD programmes and security issues of universities.

Another official of the HEC, on the condition of anonymity, said no provincial government could bar vice chancellors of public universities as these were autonomous bodies directly linked to the HEC.

"Public universities are directly funded by

HEC, this beyond the government. When (Awans) from attendance matter of Common discuss the other the civil society their office. The dev sector has of repression the prime of the HE have been carry a signal HEC. also been tion of the first atten subsequent April of 20 ing in the

Low visibility Dense fog disrupts road, rail and air traffic in Punjab

Motorway police urges citizens to avoid unnecessary traveling or use alternate routes

OUR CORRESPONDENT
LAHORE

Various cities of Punjab remained under dense blanket of fog on Wednesday night. The thick layer of fog paralysed routine life and disrupted normal road, rail and air traffic to and from various cities of the provincial capital.

According to the Pakistan Meteorological Department (PMD) forecast, moderate fog was being observed on Lahore-Islamabad M2 and Pindi Bhattian-Faisalabad M3 Motorways, especially between Lahore and Pindi Bhattian (M2-3) and Pindi Bhattian and Faisalabad (M3-1). Moderate/shallow fog was being observed on M2 Motorway from Pindi Bhattian and Salt Range, while mist was being witnessed on M2 Motorway between Salt Range and Islamabad. PMD forecast showed mist on Peshawar-Islamabad M1 Motorway, especially in the areas between Peshawar and Swabi, Swabi and Islamabad.

Police have asked the drivers to drive slow and switch on the fog lights to avoid fatal accidents due to poor visibility

PMD report showed dense/moderate fog on the National Highway (N-5) in areas like Kharian to Gujranwala, Gujranwala to Lahore, Lahore to Okara and Okara to Mianchannu. It showed moderate/shallow fog on the N5 Highway in various sections including Islamabad to Kharian, Mianchannu to Multan, Multan to Bahawalpur, Bahawalpur Rahim Yar Khan and Rahim Yar Khan to Sukkur.

According to a motorway spokesman, sections from Lahore to Pindi Bhattian and Faisalabad to Cojra have been closed owing to low visibility. The motorway police have asked the citizens to avoid unnecessary traveling or use alternative routes for travelling.

They have also urged drivers to take all precautions while driving in the fog. Moreover they have asked the drivers to drive slow and switch on the fog lights to avoid fatal accidents due to poor visibility.

Flight operations from various airports including Allama Iqbal International Airport were badly affected owing to poor visibility. Dozens of flights have been cancelled or rescheduled. Dense fog has also affected Pakistan Railway's schedule as most trains were delayed on Wednesday owing to extreme fog.
