BEIJING

China's Communist Party will address a twice-a-day press conference on Wednesday to announce leadership reshuffle to enhance President Xi Jinping's already fading powers over the world's second largest economy.

Xi will address delegates at Beijing's Great Hall of the People on the party's agenda for the next five years. He is expected to secure a second term as general secretary of the party.

Authorities are expected to announce a new security strategy for the party's congress, with Xi wearing "security" as a key theme. The strategy will outline a new security strategy, including online kitchen safety, even suspending the internet.

The 64-year-old Xi is expected to use the congress to stack the deck in favor of his loyalists.
