Envoy, who rom North have had no impact on Little Rocket Man," Trump said, in a tweet, using his favorite term of abuse for the North Korean dictator.

"Hard to believe his people, and the military, put up with living in such horrible conditions.

US Secretary of State Rex Tillerson, who met Thursday with Germany's Foreign Minister Sigmar Gabriel, was more diplomatic in his response to China — but did press for tougher action to cut of the North's fuel supplies.

Koreans came to the table, cutting the oil off."

Tillerson's call came after the US ambassador to the United Nations, Nikki Haley, issued a stark warning to the UN Security Council.

"The dictator of North Korea made a choice yesterday that brings the world closer to war, not farther from it," she said. "If war comes, make no mistake: The North Korean regime will be utterly destroyed."

But her call for nations to "cut off all ties with North Korea" was rejected by Moscow, with Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov saying Russia saw the proposal "negatively."

"We have repeatedly stated that the pressure of sanctions has been exhausted," Lavrov told reporters in Minsk.

Both former officials were arrested at dawn at their homes, four days after they were axed from their jobs by President Nicolas Maduro.

Oil minister Manuel Quevedo, a former general installed to replace both men, told reporters at an OPEC meeting in Vienna that Venezuela's oil production was being sabotaged as a preamble to a coup. "This sabotage plan is aimed at achieving a repeat of 2002-03 when there was an attempted

Gaza handover delay i doubts over Palestiniair

GAZA CITY, (Palestinian Territories): Palestinian rival factions have delayed the handover of power in the Gaza Strip by at least 10 days, stoking fears Thursday that a landmark deal to end their decade-long feud may be set to fail.

A series of Israeli strikes on the Gaza Strip in response to mortar fire at its forces meanwhile were a further sign Thursday of the difficulties facing the Palestinian reconciliation bid.

Fatah and Hamas announced the handover delay late Wednesday after sharp disagreements derailed a plan to return civil power in the Gaza Strip to the Palestinian Authority by Friday.

The handover would end Islamist movement Hamas's 10-year dominance of the Trump 'wrong relations will

LONDON: Prime Minister Theresa May repeated Thursday that US President Donald Trump was wrong to retweet anti-Muslim videos posted by a British, far-right group, after he told her to focus on her own affairs, but stressed that the US-UK relationship would endure.

May's initial condemnation prompted an extraordinary rebuke from the US leader, who told her on Twitter: "Don't focus on me, focus on the destructive Radical Islamic Terrorism that is taking place within the United Kingdom."

Speaking to reporters during a trip to Jordan, the prime minister stood her ground, defending her record on tackling extremism — including by the far right — while emphasising the strength of British-US ties.

"I'm very clear that retweeting from Britain First was the wrong thing to do," May said, describing the group as a "hateful" organisation that "seeks to spread division".

But she stressed that Britain and America have "a long-term special relationship... it is an enduring relationship that is there because it is in both our nations' interests".

Trump's retweets of a group known for its aggressively anti-Muslim stance have drawn condemnation in the United States and in Britain, where there were renewed calls for his planned state visit to be cancelled.

London Mayor Sadiq Khan who has himself been involved in a string of spats with Trump said the president's action were "a betrayal of the special relationship between our two countries".

May was the first foreign leader to visit Trump following
